A Message From The President

Fall is here and our calendar is filling up fast with meetings and events. Most importantly is the start of our Musik-Stadt election. You should have received an email from me on Sept. 27 describing our nomination and voting process. The nominating committee has a strong list of nine members we believe will do an excellent job leading the club but you still have work to do. Briefly put, the month of October is the time for you to submit names for the ballot. Read my email to see how you can get your candidate on the ballot. November is the month to vote. We will be voting electronically via Survey Monkey. By January we will introduce our new board of directors at the January 26 banquet at Brentwood Country Club.

Meetings

October  - Our October meeting will be held at the Lane Motor Museum on Murfreesboro Rd. Visit lanemotormuseum.org to see which great exhibits are on display now. If you joined the PCA in 2018 or transferred your membership to Musik-Stadt this year please join us to be recognized at this special event. Of course the meeting is open to all members. Come out and welcome our new members. (11/13 6:30 PM)

Now that the calendar has officially turned to fall, it won’t be long until winter is upon us once again. For some of our group, that means our Porsches will slumber, albeit briefly, until warmer weather is upon us. For others, we will continue to drive our Porsches through the heart of the winter temps. Either way, there are a few precautions we should take, in addition to (as always) ensuring our regular maintenance is up-to-date.

If you will be storing your car for the winter, these few tips, while not exhaustive, may be worth remembering:

1) Try to change your oil, or have it changed, just before you store your car. Old oil, even if still prior to the time or mileage limits, will suspend dirt and become somewhat “corrosive” to the engine. While this may not be a serious item for most, given our cars won’t be stored for too extensive a time, it’s still a good idea to schedule your oil changes to coincide with any extended period of storage.

2) If the car will be sitting on the tires, inflate them over what you’d normally set them to for driving (obviously don’t exceed the maximum pressure listed on the tire sidewall). You want just enough air to stiffen the side wall and to help stave off flat-spots. This is especially true if you won’t be moving the car at all while it is stored.

3) Wash the car just before storing and, if possible, place a good quality, fitted cover over it while it is in storage. This will help keep dust and other contamination from getting to the car while it’s stored.

4) Put the car on a battery tender and if you have a newer Porsche, don’t forget to lock it (which we should do with any car anyway these days). Modern cars tend to perform many electrical functions while they simply sit, and this is especially true of Porsches. Leaving the doors unlocked will typically increase this draw and can drain an otherwise healthy battery in a matter of a week or two. Locking the doors and employing a battery maintainer (such as a Battery Tender) will keep your battery in good health while your car slumbers.

5) If you start the car while it’s stored, drive it (and remember to reset the tire pressures also). It’s usually not recommended to simply start the car while it’s otherwise in storage unless you intend to drive it. Simply starting it and letting it warm up by idling tends to create moisture and contamination in the oil, without ever getting it hot enough to burn that moisture and contamination off. Most will recommend that it’s best not to start the car while in storage unless you intend to drive it.

6) I personally like to top off the fuel tank prior to storage. Some folks like to use a fuel stabilizer as well, though this may not be necessary with modern sealed systems when you’re not storing the car for more than a handful of months.

7) Wherever you store your car, make sure you take appropriate steps for rodent control if needed. There’s nothing worse than returning to your Porsche in the spring, only to find a family of mice has come to enjoy it as much as you do.

8) If you do drive your Porsche in the winter, or if you simply do not store it at all, remember that if you are running summer tires, they will not have the same level of grip they normally do once the temps approach 45 degrees or lower. It’s a good idea not to push those tires in cold temps, and to try and increase the following distance when possible to avoid any sudden stops, as your grip levels will be less than normal. If possible, fit a good set of all-season tires to your Porsche if you intend to drive it extensively in temps below 45 degrees.

While these tips are not all inclusive, hopefully they will help if you plan to store your car over the winter. Also don’t forget to check about insurance; you may be able to save a bit of money by reducing coverage to levels that do not allow driving, but still cover the car in case of theft or damage while stored. If you do this, don’t forget to reinstate the driving coverage before hitting the road again though!

The Macan inspires the long way above all. Makes intentionally wrong turns feel oh so right. And fuels spur-of-the-moment decisions that confound the GPS*. They are all moments made possible by one type of car. A sports car, the only kind worth making. Porsche. There is no substitute.

The new Macan.
Starting at $47,500.
